FESS OPPOSES DIRECT RELIEF FOR JOBLESS

Sees "No End" if Government Provides Aid Funds from Treasury.

SEES LIKELY TAX BURDEN

First To Voice Administration's Opposition; Democrats Propose Plan.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—Republican opposition to direct federal relief for the unemployed as a matter of "principle" was voiced in the senate today by Senator Fess of Ohio as the issue neared a vote.

Fess opposed the LaFollette-Costigan bill to appropriate $375,000,000 for direct relief on the ground that if the federal government entered the field of relief "there will be no end."

He said he was not opposed to the Democratic substitute proposing appropriation of $750,000,000 for relief loans to states and road construction, but was not convinced of its necessity.

Pictures Danger

"Once we start appropriating for the unemployed," Fess said, "the flood gates will be opened. We will come to the place where the federal government will be regarded as responsible not only for unemployment sufferers but we will be called upon as a duty to feed people rather than make them self-supporting."

He said the tax burden would be "simply staggering" if this precedent were established.

The Ohioan was the first member of the senate to express the administration's opposition to direct federal aid for the jobless. All previous speakers have been in favor of one kind or another of federal assistance.

Democrats Offer Proposal

Meanwhile from the Democratic side a new relief proposal was offered.

Senator Lewis Democrat of Illinois, introduced a bill to appropriate $500,000,000 to be loaned to employers to enable them to provide increased work.

COUNTY OFFICIALS AT COLUMBUS MEET

Commissioners and Engineers Attend Annual Sessions at Capital.

County Commissioners W. H. King, O. C. McCurdy and O. W. Kinnamon were in Columbus today for the annual meeting of the County Commissioners' association at the Neil House. The association is meeting with delegates to the annual convention of the Ohio Tax association today in a discussion of the state's new tax code, according to the Associated Press.

Meetings of both associations opened in Columbus yesterday, the commissioners meeting jointly with the Ohio Engineering society. County Surveyor Cecil R. Leavens, Vern M. Dutton and John Ruth are among the Marion men attending the three-day session of the society.

Conventions of the county commissioners and tax association were to end today after the election of officers. The engineering society meeting will continue Thursday.

Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown told the commissioners that to lower taxes the state must reduce public expenditures, adding "There is no such thing as a new source of revenue. It is always the same—the people," he said.

Other speakers were Governor George White, State Highway Director O. W. Merrell, and W. A. Greenlund of Cleveland, president of the tax association.

Governor White reiterated belief that an extra session of the legislature to provide unemployment relief should be avoided if possible. He added he had no present intention of convening the assembly, although Mayor Henry W. Worley of Columbus declared he believed a session would be called "if a definite program were outlined and presented to the governor."

SMASHES RECORD TO WIN OLYMPIC TITLE

By The Associated Press

OLYMPIC BOB RUN, LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 10—Hubert Stevens of Lake Placid twice smashed the world record for two man bobs to catch Reto Capadrutt, sensational Swiss, in the final two heats of the Olympic competition today and retain for the United States the title Jack Heaton won at St. Moritz in 1928.

Going into the final day 4.28 seconds behind the 20-year-old Swiss after the first two heats yesterday, Stevens turned in two almost unbelievably perfect runs of 1:59.69 and 1:57.68.

STUDENT LOSES HAND

By The Associated Press

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. Feb. 10—A. E. Knauf of Salem, O. was burned severely, necessitating the amputation of his left hand above the wrist, when an explosion in a chemical laboratory shook the University of Illinois campus late yesterday. Knauf, a post-graduate student and assistant in the chemistry department, was making an experiment when the [illegible] curred, but he was [illegible] what caused it.

DRASTIC ARMS CUT URGED BY ITALY

2-GUN GIRL

This determined young lady handles those guns just like she knew how to use them. And she does. She is Miss Arlyne Brown, of St. Louis, Mo., who is to meet William T. Desmond, crack pistol shot of the Boston police force, in a shooting match, to be held at the Sportsmen's show in the Hub city. The girl is proficient with the left or right hand—or both.

WICKHAM FILES ROBBERY ALIBI

Man Charged with Morral Bank Holdup Says He Picked Berries July 12.

TRIAL OPENS THURSDAY

Defendant's Witnesses Will Testify He Spent Day in Carey.

That he was picking blackberries near Carey on the day of the holdup will be the alibi of Robert J. Wickham, 36, of Carey, when he goes on trial Thursday in common pleas court on charge of robbing the Morral bank of $2,500 July 12.

Wickham's alibi has been filed in common pleas court by his attorney in compliance with a law requiring an advance notice of an alibi.

Several witnesses, including his wife, will be called to prove that Wickham spent the entire day in or near Carey, the notice indicates. He and parties he will call as witnesses took small buckets and went afield to see if the berries were yet ripe on the date of the holdup, Wickham avers. After returning from the search for berries, he worked in the garden, he said.

Wickham's case is the only pending case growing out the January term grand jury. He has been in the county jail since he was brought to Marion from Roanoke, W. Va., last December. He was indicted on a charge of bank robbery, and pleaded not guilty.

Alva Wilcox, sentenced to a sterm of 20 years in the Mansfield reformatory when he pleaded guilty to participating in the Bettsville bank robbery last Dec. 5, furnished local authorities information which led to Wickham's arrest at Roanoke.

Wickham will be represented by Attorney James H. Eymon. R. M. Wilhelm, county prosecutor, will represent the state.

AID IN BANK HOLDUP MUST GO TO PRISON

Supreme Court Affirms Conviction of Lima Man for Delphos Robbery.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 10—Carl Dodge, Lima taxi-driver, must serve a term in Ohio penitentiary on a charge of shooting with intent to kill in connection with the robbery of Delphos, O., bank, although he did not fire a shot, the supreme court ruled today, in affirming his conviction.

Dodge is alleged to have driven the car which was used in the robbery of a Delphos bank, Feb. 5, 1931.

Court records showed that Dodge was employed to drive to Delphos, where his passenger robbed the bank and fired several shots at Simon Allen. Dodge was indicted because the state contended he aided and abetted the robbery. In court, Dodge denied he was guilty of double jeopardy, for he said he had his car standing with [illegible] and he was deprived of [illegible] by the arms of [illegible]

Cavalry Mows Down Japs

DASHES ACROSS NO MAN'S LAND

Force of Horse-Mounted Chinese Hits Foe in Spectacular Charge.

REPORT HEAVY LOSSES

Big Guns Quiet Down in Shanghai; Suspense Prevails as Lines Are Shifted.

SHANGHAI, China, Feb. 10—Tearing across no man's land in an old-fashioned cavalry charge, a Chinese squadron was reported to have inflicted heavy casualties today on the Japanese who have been laying waste to Chapei with artillery.

It was an incident in a comparatively quiet day. Big guns were not firing and although machine guns were in action it was apparent that both sides were shifting their lines. No one knew what was going to happen next.

Over at Woosung where the Japanese had been trying to blast the enemy loose from their forts, the action also had subsided somewhat late this afternoon.

Work Under Shell Fire

Meanwhile, the Chinese were reinforcing the trenches battered by raking shell fire.

The Japanese were working hard on a pontoon bridge across Woosung creek, but Chinese machine gunners were not making the job any too easy.

There were indications that part of the Chinese main force had been taken out of the Chapei lines and sent over to Woosung.

In the international settlement apprehension reigned and United States marines joined in building additional sandbag barricades and barbed wire defenses. The guard was increased at several strategic points. The authorities, who recently ruled that civilians must be off the streets at 10 p. m., moved up the deadline to 9 p. m.

Send Plea for Peace Move

Leading Chinese commercial and banking organizations sent telegrams during the day to Secretary of State Stimson at Washington and to the British, French and Italian premiers, urging them to try to bring about settlement of the Sino-Japanese dispute "in accordance with the ideals of the League of Nations, the Kellogg pact and the nine power treaty." The messages said the conflict was likely to develop "into the actuality of a world catastrophe."

STAGE ANTI-WAR RIOTS

Japanese Students Register Violent Protests; 25 Arrested.

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, Feb. 10—Students rioted in protest at "imperialistic war" today as the government considered sending special envoys to the world powers to clarify the Japanese position concerning Manchuria.

At the same time, a foreign office spokesman revealed that Japan's suggestion of demilitarization of principal Chinese ports was merely a "feeler" to ascertain world opinion before making concrete proposals.

Twenty-five students were arrested. Handbills were circulated, meetings called, and a parade through the city attempted.

THREAT OF STRIKE CONFRONTS SPAIN

By The Associated Press

BARCELONA, Spain, Feb. 10—A threat of further labor and syndicalist troubles, with the possibility of a general revolutionary strike, kept authorities of the Spanish republic on the alert today, after departure of the prison ship Buenos Aires with 110 prisoners for an unknown point of exile.

Marriage Views Bring Ouster of College Editor

By The Associated Press

DANVILLE, Ky., Feb. 10—Charles J. Thurmond's views on matrimony, published under the caption, "Stupidity of Marriage," have cost him his job as editor of the Cento, student publication at Centre college.

Thurmond wrote that marriage "ends in wrecked lives and the casting of ugly blemishes on young lives having to come in contact with it."

The college discipline committee yesterday ousted him as editor. Thurmond's supporters claimed the storm was caused by "class politics," but their protests were unavailing.

Thurmond, a senior, will be permitted to remain in school. In a statement he said there was no one in college "who is stricter in his personal morals than I am," and that "I do not practice what is expressed as a possible solution to unsatisfactory marriage."

VETERAN O. S. U. TEACHER DIES

Dr. Knight, Faculty Member Since 1885, Victim of Pneumonia.

IN SERVICE 43 YEARS

Began When Enrollment Was 900; Pres. Rightmire One of Students.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 10—Dr. George Wells Knight, 73, professor emeritus in history at Ohio State university, and former dean of the school of education, died in University hospital here early today.

Dr. Knight fell ill 10 days ago. Death was caused by pneumonia. His widow and a daughter survive him.

Dr. Knight, a graduate of the University of Michigan, joined the faculty of Ohio State university in 1885, his first class a group of four students from a student body of 900. The university enrollment today is approximately 16,000 students.

Leader in Development

He nominally at the start, occupied the chair of history and English literature at the university, but it was his work that largely led to expansion of these departments into political science, economics and eventually, the college of commerce and administration.

Dr. Knight taught actively for 43 years, numbering among his students George W. Rightmire now president of the university. He retired in 1928.

He did not seek administrative duties.

His Favorite System

"My long suit," he once said, "is with a group of students in front of me. My hobby is to get students to do their own thinking and to do it straight. To do that successfully means more than to write books which nobody will read."

He wrote books, nevertheless, among them a "History of Land Grants for Education in the Northwest Territory," "History of Higher Education in Ohio," and "The Government of the People of Ohio."

MAY RENOUNCE TREATY

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Feb. 10—The British government is considering renouncing the trade treaty with Soviet Russia, made by the late Labor government, the Daily Mail said today, to stop the "dumping" of Russian goods on the home market.

DEATH TAKES NOTED AUTHOR

Edgar Wallace, Well-Known Mystery Story Writer, Dies in California.

STARTED LIFE IN SLUMS

Rose from Obscure London Newsboy to Position of Prominence.

By The Associated Press

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. Feb. 10—Edgar Wallace, who became one of the world's most prolific and highest paid writers after starting life as a newsboy in the slums of London, died this morning. Death was due to double pneumonia. He was 56 years of age.

EDGAR WALLACE

The noted author of mystery stories was stricken Sunday with influenza. Pneumonia developed Monday night, and since yesterday the writer had been in a semi-conscious condition.

At his bedside when he died were his secretary of many years, Robert Curtis, Walter Huston, the actor, and his physician.

Wallace came to Hollywood from his home in England, several months ago to write scenarios.

Was Mystery Writer

Known especially for his mystery novels, which he often wrote as rapidly as two a month, Wallace however laid no claim to literary genius.

Born in the squalor and poverty of London slums, Wallace at ten sold papers and his education in school stopped at that age. At eleven he engaged himself as a cabin boy on a trawler, which cruised the North sea. At eighteen, he enlisted as a soldier and saw service in the Boer war. It was then he developed a latent talent for writing.

He began first by patterning after the man he most admired, Kipling, writing vigorous poetry of soldier life.

Accumulating money, he purchased his discharge from the army and covered the rest of the Boer war as a special correspondent.

Last Rites Indefinite

Funeral arrangements probably will await the arrival of Mrs. Wallace, who on hearing of her husband's illness arranged passage to New York on the liner Majestic, sailing today.

A million and a half of Edgar Wallace's books have been sold in the United States, his publishers estimated today.

But that's a mere bagatelle as compared to his record the world over. Here are a few figures as given out by the publishers:

He has written more than 180 books.

Five million copies are sold yearly.

His most profitable piece of labor was the play "On the Spot," he wrote it in two days and received $100,000 for it.

THAD BROWN DENIES CHARGE AT HEARING

Defends Action While Secretary of State Before Senate Committee.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—Thad H. Brown today defended himself against complaints that while secretary of state of Ohio he caused the state to lose interest on funds from the sale of automobile tags.

Brown was testifying before the senate interstate commerce committee on his nomination as a member of the radio commission.

After Chairman Couzens had cited a Columbus newspaper article, Brown said when he became secretary of state he found the deputy registrar of motor vehicles had [illegible] ...ags, ...ags, ...ags,

STOCK RAISERS TO MEET HERE

Marion County Cooperative Association To Hold Session Today.

Officers in charge of the annual meeting Friday of the Marion County Livestock Cooperative association are getting plans nearly completed, J. E. Miller, manager, announced. The meeting will be held in Schwinger's hall on north Prospect street with more than 200 members and guests from Marion and surrounding counties expected.

All livestock producers have been invited to attend. The morning session will begin at 11 a. m. with reports by Miller and Roland Leeper, manager of the Marion branch of the Ohio Farm Bureau service company. Officers will then be elected for 1932. An interval of music by Wesley Reed of Martel will precede a lunch served at noon by the association.

The showing of two one-reel films will follow the lunch. The films are titled, "Fighting Dollars," and "All in the Same Boat," and show, through stories from life, the necessity for cooperative marketing of livestock.

Providing arrangements can be completed, talks by state officers will be next on the program, Miller said. The plan is to bring representatives of the Ohio Livestock association and the National Order Buying association to the meeting for brief talks.

Ray Gatewood of near Caledonia, president of the county group, will preside. Other officers are H. H. Berringer of Waldo, vice president, Lowell Ulch of Caledonia, secretary and J. E. Miller, treasurer.

PLANS TO UNCOVER FUNDS DRAWN UP

Hoover Maps Out Campaign Against Hoarding.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—To back up the big anti-hoarding campaign now beginning, President Hoover is working out a specific plan of action for drawing hidden dollars back into circulation.

Its nature so far is strictly secret. Colonel Frank Knox of Chicago, national leader of the anti-hoarding organization, revealed existence of the presidential project but said nothing could be told of it until it was "copper-riveted and complete."

Knox is planning a rapid campaign to drive home the idea that "each community must get behind itself."

"We must convince each individual that for his own selfish interest he must have confidence in his own institutions and that the effect of withdrawing money from them results in economic strangulation," was the way he put it.

ASKS TO REGAIN PROPERTY IN SUIT

Woman Says Husband Refuses To Return Money in Alimony Case.

Laberta Bell filed suit in common pleas court yesterday to recover $1,000 in money and a note for $400 from Robert G. Bell, and for alimony. She charges that he persuaded her to turn over her money and the note on the false pretense that she would be liable for checks drawn by one of her sons. He promised to return the property, but has not done so, she charges.

He also influenced her to transfer some property to him without consideration and has refused to return this, she adds. To support her plea for alimony, she avers that he has abused her since obtaining title to her possessions, and has obliged her to work as a common laborer, papering and painting houses. When she was ill with smallpox and became delirious, he refused to get her a doctor, she charges. She states that he is worth $20,000. The law firm of Carhart, Warner & Carhart represents Mrs. Bell.

Suit Dismissed

The damage suit of Lloyd W. Ledley, administrator of the estate of Harold Dee Ledley, killed in a fall in an elevator shaft at the Montgomery Ward & Co. store here two years ago, against the Montgomery Ward & Co. was dismissed from common pleas court yesterday for want of prosecution.

Will Sustained

A jury in common pleas court this morning returned a verdict sustaining the will of J. L. Richardson, deceased. The will was involved in a suit of Mary Francis, sister of the deceased, against Daisy Russell and others, to have the will set aside. The case had been virtually settled out of court, and Judge George B. Scofield directed the verdict with the consent of all parties. The law firm of Mouser, Young, Mouser & Wiant represented the defendants, and the law firm of Patton & Wiedemann, and Albert N. Cox of Galion, was counsel for Mary Francis.

Sues for Divorce

Cruelty during their one week of married life together and failure to support her since are charged against Richard S. Peters by Evelyn B. Peters in her divorce suit filed in common pleas court yesterday. He struck, cursed, insulted, aggravated and threatened her, she charges. Homer E. Johnson is counsel for Evelyn Peters.

Charges Cruelty

Gross neglect and extreme cruelty charges are contained in the divorce petition of Lillian Elwyna Woodruff, filed in common pleas court yesterday against Earl F. Woodruff. He went to her house at 582 east Center street to live when they were married, and during eight months contributed only $40 a month toward her support. She charges that he nagged and asks the court to restore her to her maiden name. The law firm of Carhart, Warner & Carhart represents Lillian Woodruff.

License Issued

A marriage license was issued in probate court yesterday to Norman Titus, a clerk of 275 Flos avenue, and Lucile Landon of 269 Latourette street.

MARION PARTY AT OPENING OF HOTEL

Several Marion hotel men attended the opening last night of the new Hotel Marsh in Van Wert. Hotel men from over the state were invited to the dinner and celebration.

C. A. Klunk, manager of Hotel Marion, George Lippincott, manager of the Kumfort hotel, and C. D. Mittenbuhler, manager of Hotel Harding, accompanied by Mrs. Mittenbuhler, went from Marion.

E. C. Quiggle, well known here through his hotel work, is the manager of the new hotel.

Lodge Plans Party.

Plans to observe Washington's birthday with a program Feb. 22, were made by Kosciusko Lodge No. 58, I. O. O. F. Monday night. T. E. Bolander, J. A. Hiller, L. F. Baller, C. E. Primmer and R. G. Smallwood were named on a committee to arrange the program. A meeting will be held in one week.

HUSBAND MISSING, WIFE CARRIES ON

By The Associated Press

SEATTLE, Feb. 10.—Mrs. Jennie S. Burke, accompanied by a bodyguard, carried on her husband's milk route today despite his disappearance three days ago and her belief that racketeers may have harmed him.

Burke had been warned he must give up the route, she said. He disappeared with his truck Saturday. Mrs. Burke has made deliveries since.

"Can't honest, hard-working people, performing a useful service to the community, remain in business in Seattle?" Mrs. Burke asked. "I'll show them." She denied her husband had cut prices.

Will Celebrate.

Relatives and friends from Marion and vicinity will attend the golden wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar M. Davis to be held Friday at their home at 111 Griswold street in Delaware. The family formerly resided in Waldo. Mr. and Mrs. Davis will receive their friends during the afternoon and evening.

To Give Play.

WALDO, Feb. 10.—The young people of this place will celebrate Missionary day Sunday with a three act play, "The Sacrifice," to be given at the St. Joseph Reformed church at 7:30 p. m. The cast numbering 20 persons, will be from the Waldo Reformed charge in the village and is being coached by Mrs. H. H. Blum.

Buffaloes were introduced as domestic animals in Italy, sixth century.

HOLD HEARINGS IN INDUSTRIAL CASES

Referee for State Commission Takes Testimony in Claims Against Department.

L. R. Cousineau of Columbus, referee for the state industrial commission, yesterday heard testimony in two cases brought against the commission for participation in the industrial compensation fund. The hearings were conducted in the common pleas court room, preparatory to an appeal of the cases to the courts.

The commission previously had denied both parties the right to participate in the compensation fund.

The cases were those of Arthur L. Arndt, for whose death the widow sought compensation, charging that his death from infantile paralysis was induced by long hours in a manhole in the employ of the Ohio Associated Telephone Co., and Frank Mont, who blames his blindness on a blow to the head suffered while working for the Fort Hayes Hotel Co. in the laundry.

The referee's hearing was recorded, and evidence brought out during the hearing will be the only testimony submitted to the courts in the event the cases are appealed. The referee will make a report on the cases, recommending that they either be allowed or disallowed.

Theodore B. Ochs and Grant E. Mouser represented the widow of Arthur Arndt, Ray McFadden of Columbus represented Frank Mont, and Joseph L. Williams, assistant attorney general represented the state in the hearings.

Once again the power of full strength Listerine to ward off infection, by means of its swift, safe, germicidal action, is revealed by a series of unusual tests.

Bear the results of these tests in mind. They point to better health, greater vitality, and freedom from pain and discomfort.

Between November 15, 1930 and February 1, 1931, 102 persons in normal health were kept under medical observation. Thirty-four of them, designated as "controls," did not gargle Listerine. Thirty-four gargled with full strength Listerine twice a day. The remaining thirty-four gargled five times daily. Now see what happened:

One-half as many colds for garglers

The "controls" (those who did not use Listerine) contracted twice as many colds as those who gargled Listerine twice daily. Moreover, their colds lasted three times as long and were four times as severe.

Now let us compare the "controls" with those who gargled Listerine five times a day:

The "controls" had three times as many colds, which were four times as severe and lasted four times as long.

Results every time

Similar tests conducted over periods ranging from four weeks to four and one-half months show equally convincing results.

In a four-week test those who did not gargle Listerine contracted nine times as many colds as those who did gargle. In addition, the colds lasted eleven times as long. In a four and one-half month test those who did not gargle Listerine contracted three times as many colds as those who did gargle. And the colds lasted five times as long.

Kills germs, yet safe

What is the secret of Listerine's success used this way? The answer is its ability to kill germs in the fastest time without harm to the delicate tissues of the mouth. Used as a gargle, full strength Listerine reduces bacteria on the surfaces of the mouth, 98%. At the end of two hours, a reduction of between 75% and 80% is still evident. Ask for Listerine and see that you get it. Its results are certain and its action is safe. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A.

Good Deed by London Youth Brought Scouting to America

Recounting the little public known story of the origin of scouting in America, local Boy Scout officials have told the story of a good turn performed by a London, England scout for a visiting American publisher was responsible for the spirit of scouting spreading across the water to America.

The story is particularly appropriate coming at a time when scouts over the country are celebrating the twenty-second anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America.

Scout Aided Publisher

The late William D. Boyce, Chicago published, who, with two friends, incorporated the Boy Scouts of America Feb. 8, 1910, in Washington, D. C., was the American for whom the unknown English scout furnished the inspiration to start the movement in this country.

Boyce, while looking for an address in London during a heavy fog, lost his way. He was approached by a boy who asked, "May I be of service to you?" and when told where Boyce wanted to go, saluted and said, "Come with me, sir." After reaching his destination, Boyce wished to tip the boy, and was surprised at the lad's refusal to accept the tip.

His curiosity aroused, Boyce questioned the boy and was told something of the Boy Scout movement, one of the principles of which is to not accept money in return for good deeds or service.

Going to the office of the then Sir Robert Baden-Powell, now Lord Baden-Powell of Gilwell, chief scout of the world, Boyce obtained more information about the movement.

Gets Help of Friends

One of his first acts upon returning to America was to consult with friends and impart his enthusiasm to them, which resulted in the founding of the order in this country.

In the 22 years that have elapsed, more than 5,670,780 men and boys have shared membership in the scout movement. In 1926, to express their regard for the unknown scout whose courtesy to Boyce was responsible for scouting being brought here, they presented a bronze buffalo to the British Boy Scouts association.

This token of esteem and friendship now stands at the British Boy Scout training school at Gilwell, England. It bears the inscription, "To the Unknown Scout Whose Faithfulness in the Performance of the 'Daily Good Turn' brought the Scout Movement to the United States of America."

"You're wrong, Fred! I haven't been spending a lot of money on beauty treatments while you've been away! Jane Foster told me about fresh Camay Soap. It comes all sealed in cellophane, you see. I'll let you use some of my fresh Camay—and you'll see how much softer your skin looks, too!"

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, Feb. 11.

A PARTICULARLY lively and eventful day is forecast from the leading place of Uranus, the planet of change, radicalism and adventure, in the day's astrological map. Jupiter, the major benefic, also strong, promises advancement, progress and prosperity, with favors, honors and recognition, especially from elderly persons or constitutions. This assistance may have a personal or social instigation. Be on guard against deceptions or jealousy in this splendid opportunity.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a brilliant year of recognition, advancement and important change, possibly in environment and all the interests. Benefits, favors and substantial assistance toward this end may be expected from those in power, especially from elderly persons or institutions. These connections may have a personal or social flavor, but be on guard against some deception or petty jelousy. A period of great initiative, adventure and satisfaction is seen. A child born on this day should be energetic, resourceful, adventurous and ambitious finding fine position in life.

32 ATTEND FOOD DEMONSTRATION AT Y

Third of Series of Six Classes Held; Menus, Budgeting Discussed.

Attendance was 32 at the third of the series of six lessons in practical and inexpensive menus, the preparation of foods and family budgeting, at the Y. M. C. A. kitchen yesterday afternoon. Interest in the classes, which are under the direction of Mrs. E. O. Smith, has been enthusiastic from the beginning and the attendance records show that practically all who started the course two weeks ago have been regular attendants.

Soups were demonstrated in the class yesterday afternoon and recipes for these, together with a well-balanced menu, were distributed by Mrs. Smith. She also gave a talk on budgeting. Bags of fine and heavy ground wheat were distributed at the close of the meeting.

A round table discussion of the menus brought out the information that the recipes which have been given out have been tried with reports on the success or failure of the project. The course will be completed in the three remaining lessons when certificates will be distributed.

The classes are being held under the auspices of the Red Cross nutrition committee of the Red Cross

Two More in Race.

Interest in the race for county commissioner continued to grow today with the circulation of petitions to nominate M. A. Virden of LaRue, R. F. D. WILLIAMS OUTLINES GRANGE MEET PLANS

Martel Farm Group To Be Host at Session at Hall March 2.

Elmer A. Williams, deputy grange master in Marion county, attended the meeting of the Martel grange Monday night and outlined plans for a meeting of granges in the eastern half of the county March 2 at Martel.

Granges to attend the meeting are Progressive, Kirkpatrick, Bethlehem, United and Whetstone. The Martel grange will be host and will put on the second degree work. Melvin Kennedy was named captain, and J. E. Miller, master, of the Martel grange degree team for this purpose.

Three members of the Martel grange were appointed to help promote the establishment of 4-H club work in Marion county. They are Harley Lyons, Melvin Kennedy and Ruth Baldinger. A talk on taxation by Harley Rodock, principal of the Martel High school, was another event of the meeting. Eugene Kennedy, grange master, presided.

Mrs. Charles Hoffstetter, Mrs. O. M. Dilsaver and Mrs. H. M. Reed were named a committee on refreshments for the meeting March 2.

TENNESSEE PASTOR SPEAKS IN DISTRICT

Rev. Clair S. Adams Talks at Cities in Marion Presbytery; Study Missions.

A special study of the work of the Presbyterian Board of National Missions is underway in the Marion Presbytery, to close Sunday with meetings at Forest Lawn and Lee Street churches here.

The meetings opened Monday at Crestline, and yesterday a session was held at Kenton. Today's meeting was at Richwood.

Rev. Clair S. Adams of Alpine Tenn., has been sent to the presbytery to address all the gatherings. Rev. Mr. Adams is widely known for his work at Alpine where he replaced a one-room tumbledown schoolhouse with six modern buildings including the Alpine Institute for boys and girls.

Thursday afternoon he will speak at West Liberty and will address a meeting that night in Bellefontaine. His Saturday meeting will be held at the Upper Sandusky church.

BUFFALO WOMAN TELLS HOW SHE LOST 17 POUNDS

Many would not believe such a thing possible—as losing a pound a day. But actually hundreds, such as Mrs. Anna Lenal 620 Ellicott St., Buffalo N. Y., report that happy experience. She writes: "Five weeks of Bonkora reduced my weight 17 lbs.—from 167 lbs. to 150 lbs. I think it is wonderful, especially since I did not diet—ate everything I wanted. Bonkora makes me feel so good—no more of that dragged out, tired feeling." If you are burdened with excess weight, double chin, large hips and bust—by all means get a bottle of Bonkora, the new Battle Creek treatment, today. Before breakfast take a little in half a glass of water.

Don't starve—eat all you want. From free chart with each bottle, merely choose the foods you like best in correct combinations. Bonkora, a compound of Nature's choice herbs and saltines—is safe and harmless. Takes off excess poundage by cleansing wastes from the intestines and removing retained moisture from fatty tissues. If you really want to get rid of fat—feel full of vigor—want a good looking skin and an amazingly slender, youthful figure—don't delay another minute. Start today with Bonkora. If within the very first week you do not lose weight, send the bottle to Battle Creek and your money will be refunded. One bottle—a month's treatment—only $1.00, at

Pacifism Hit in Talk by Legion Auxiliary Head

Mrs. J. Edward Johns of Massillon Deplores Movement Toward Complete Disarmament in Address Before Local Post; Vets Oppose Weakening of Defenses.

That the sentiment against disarmament and any measures to lower the present national defense program is nationwide in American Legion posts and the auxiliary circles was evident in the talk given by Mrs. J. Edward Johns of Massillon, state president of the auxiliary and in action taken by Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, last night at the Legion dugout.

Mrs. Johns told approximately 200 Legion men, women and guests, of the Woman's Patriotic Conference on National Defense, held last week in Washington, D. C.

Protests Petitions

She protested the petitions for total disarmament circulated among women's clubs and organizations in the last year and sent to the disarmament conference in Geneva as the sentiment of the American women, and said that a cablegram had been sent to the conference stating that the petitions were not the expression of the 400,000 Legion women of the United States.

Rehabilitation measures, the limiting of the Communistic movement in the United States, and a change in immigration laws were touched on by Mrs. Johns in her talk, as was the work of the Ohio Legion women in hospitalization and child welfare work.

"This year we are on the road to putting Ohio in the foregrond in child welfare work," she said, adding that the Legion and auxiliary must conserve its strength and resources for local problems this year in taking care of families in local vicinities.

Bird-McGinnis post adopted a resolution presented by F. O. Tuttle Jr. deploring any legislation that will weaken the national defense of the country. Copies of the resolution will be sent the senators from Ohio and Congressman Grant E. Mouser Jr. Post Commander J. W. Llewellyn announced that he had sent letters to the senators and congressman expressing the same feeling and had received replies favorable to the legion attitude.

Other Program Features

Preceding Mrs. Johns' talk, Landon a Hawmans played a group of selections and a playlet, "The Runaways" was presented by Mrs. Cleon Williams and Mrs. E. E. Parish. Mrs. T. O. Showers arranged for the playlet. A quartet composed of Frank Butterworth, William Ackerman Park Kennedy and Rex H Robinson sang a number of songs at the conclusion of the state president's talk. Mr. Ackerman and Mr Kennedy sang solos, accompanied at the piano by Probate Judge Oscar Gast. Eugene Hill acted as master of ceremonies for the quartet

A surprise of the affair was the presentation to Mrs Johns of a huge decorated ice cream cake bearing the American Legion emblem, in honor of her birthday which she observed yesterday

On the platform with Mrs Johns were the legion auxiliary officers, Mrs. Elmer E Smith, president, Mrs. L. M. Eikenbarry, treasurer, Mrs. F O Tuttle Jr., Mrs. Clyde Faust, Mrs Eugene Hill and Commander Llewellyn.

Preceding the meeting, Mrs. Johns was entertained at dinner at Hotel Harding Covers were placed for the reception committee, Mr. and Mrs Llewellyn, Mr and Mrs. Faust, Mr. and Mrs. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Smith, with the guest of honor. In welcoming Mrs Johns to Bird-McGinnis post, Mrs. Smith presented her with a corsage of sweet peas from the auxiliary.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE LEAGUE WILL PLAY

Second Session Will Be Held Thursday Night at Hotel Marion.

The recently formed Marion Duplicate bridge league will meet Thursday at 8 30 p m at Hotel Marion for the second session of play.

Mrs. Helena Mouser Young will again act as hostess. The play will be under the direction of M. Porter Walley of Cleveland, director of the league

Local players interested in duplicate bridge are invited to attend the meeting Thursday night.

The league held its first meeting last Thursday night at Hotel Marion High scores for north and south were turned in by Mrs. Young and Dr. F E Mahla, while Dr. C. J. Altmaier and R H. Knecht were high among the east-west players

High-score prizes will be awarded each week. At the end of the season, a trophy will be presented the player having high total score

Office Ransacked.

Burglars who got into the building by breaking a section of glass from a window, ransacked the office of the Laurel Biscuit Co, on west George street last night, according to a report made to the police this morning. A check made at the office this morning showed that nothing of value had been taken, employes of the company said.

Meeting Postponed.

Because of the joint dinner meeting of the Rotary club, the Kiwanis club and the chamber of commerce held at the Eagles temple last night, the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club will not be held Thursday noon, it has been announced by members of the club. State Senator Robert Rohe, who was to have been speaker at the luncheon this week, will address the club members at the meeting Thursday noon next week.

INFANT DOOMED TO LIFE OF IMBECILE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—Mrs. Lillian Moore, 20 year old, had to face today the certainty that her 15-months-old daughter, Diana, will always be feeble-minded.

The verdict came last night from specialists who examined the baby in the hope that an operation to enlarge her skull, which had closed prematurely, might relieve pressure of her brain and permit her to develop into a normal being.

They found, they said, there was no excessive pressure on Diana's brain, which was congenitally under-developed, and that an operation would do no good, would only cause the baby pain, and possibly kill her. The case attracted nationwide attention several weeks ago when Mrs. Moore announced she would risk the child's life in an operation in hope of saving her from idiocy.

TO DEVELOP 4-H CLUB WORK HERE

Executive Committee Will Be Named To Plan Program in County.

The development of interest in 4-H club projects with the ultimate purpose of obtaining recognition by the state organization in order that the clubs of the county can compete at the state fair and at the Cleveland stock show, will be the aim of an executive committee consisting of representatives of various county organizations, it was announced by C. B Rayburn, county school superintendent, this morning. The committee will be selected soon

A meeting to complete the organizing of the committee will be held on Feb. 27, Mr. Rayburn said.

As the result of an effort on the part of the county superintendent, representatives of the Farm bureau, fair board Parent-Teachers' association, and the county grange met Monday at the superintendent's office where they were addressed by W A. Palmer, of Ohio State University, and club leader of the state, who outlined definite programs of work

In addition to the executive committee which, it was explained by Mr. Rayburn, will have charge of developing interest in the county, there will be a local committee and local supervisor of each community, who will have charge of the activities in that particular community.

The four H's, Mr. Rayburn said, stand for "hands, health, heart and head" and the projects cover practically every phase of farm life, both in the home and in the products of the farm

ALMENDINGER IS IMPROVED TODAY

Man Hurt in Prospect Fight Reported Better.

A slight change for the better was noted today in the condition of Earl Almendinger, 22, of Prospect, who Sunday was struck on the head with a baseball bat by Greer Chapman, also of Prospect, during a quarrel. Almendinger suffered a slight fracture of the skull, and is in City hospital.

Chapman is free under $500 bond and his hearing on a charge of assault with intent to wound or kill awaits developments in Almendinger's condition.

NATIVE OF NORTH LECTURES AT GYM

Large Audience Hears Talk by Mt. Vernon Big Game Hunter.

More than 200 persons heard George Butler, of Mt. Vernon, O., big game hunter, when he lectured last night at the Marion Steam Shovel Co gymnasium. Mr. Butler, born and reared in New Foundland has returned to his homeland on several hunting expeditions since He came here under the auspices of the Seventh Day Adventist church.

He told of his adventures in sealing, giving them a vivid picture of the industry from the time the first plans are made for a sealing expedition until the ships return.

The lecture was illustrated by 72 slides, showing the sealing boats, the scenery of New Foundland and Labrador, the methods of capturing the seals and taking the pelts, and something of the life in the far north.

He brought with him the instruments used in taking the pelts, a cap like those worn by the sealers and a gaff, the long hook used by the men in crossing the ice or in rescuing a comrade from the sea.

The 40-piece orchestra from the Mt. Vernon academy, a Seventh Day Adventist school, gave a half hour program of music preceding the lecture. The proceeds will go into the church debt fund.

3 PERSONS RESPOND TO REVIVAL CALL

Rev. W. Martell George Preaches at Wesley M. E. Church.

Three persons responded to the altar call last night at Wesley M. E. church following a sermon by Rev. W. Martell George, pastor, on the subject, "The City of Refuge." Thirty-five members of the Sunday school board attended.

The sermon in part follows: "There are many warnings throughout life telling us we should get into the City of Refuge. The city of church membership is all right, but it never saved one's soul. The real test is whether you have been born again and have the love of Christ in your heart.

"Jesus Christ is the refuge for a man's soul and unless he gets there, there is no hope in time or eternity. It is the thief who drives us out of our Eden of innocence and it is the thief who prevents us to turn his back on Christ. The only way to overcome him is to go to the City of Refuge, the arms of Love."

Field Secretary of State Organization Discusses Taxation and Policies of Body at Meeting of Marion Business and Professional Men.

Only by lending their efforts to an extensive organization such as the Ohio chamber of commerce can Ohio business men meet the many perplexing problems ahead, Karl S. Kumler, field secretary for the Ohio chamber of commerce, told 150 men in a meeting of Marion business interests in the Eagles building last night. The meeting was sponsored by the Ohio and local chambers, and included the membership of the local chamber, and the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs.

Following a banquet served by the nutrition committee, a community fund agency and a Red Cross committee, which will turn all profits from the meal to the fund for supplying milk to needy Marion babies and undernourished school children, Kumler discussed the highlights of Ohio governmental trends and their relation to business.

Takes Up Taxation

There is much agitation for new tax-producing legislation, especially for welfare work, Kumler said With limits on the amount of tax it is possible to place on real estate, business and the fruits of business are the only logical source for such revenue, and business can not stand any added tax, he declared.

Commenting on increased taxes and what the chamber is doing toward lowering them, Kumler said that "in the last 20 years county government debt has increased 520 per cent, township debt 569 per cent, debt in cities and villages 320 per cent, and school debt 1,308 per cent

"A constitutional amendment will be submitted to the ninetieth general assembly for ratification which, if so ratified, will then be presented to the electorate for approval. It will give counties the right to set up municipal, regional and county commission forms of government comparable to the city commission or manager form now administered in more than 20 Ohio cities and in 378 cities in the United States

"The Ohio chamber's program includes the organization of public expenditure committees in chambers or other organizations functioning as such in all counties. They will study valuations, assessments, levies, bond issues, budgets and public expenditures in all political subdivisions Thirty-three counties have undertaken this work.

A means advocated by Kumler said the Ohio chamber is "unalterably opposed to a general sales tax based on the size or number of units of the concern or corporation to be taxed, any increase in the corporation franchise taxes which would discourage industry from locating in Ohio, any excise tax on public utilities which would merely raise the cost of necessary services."

Works with Hoover

"The Ohio chamber has undertaken in Ohio to organize the state in compliance with President Hoover's plea to cease hoarding," Kumler said The local chamber can do a substantial bit of work in this connection, he suggested.

Sharp criticism of increasing governmental costs and the expansion of recent years in governmental activities was voiced by Dr F. C Smith in remarks during a discussion following the address. He declared that politics is a disease which has resulted in inefficiency in government and which is sending us, as a nation, ever downward

G. Farr Lane, chairman of the local chamber's municipal taxation committee, said his committee is outlining a program of activities and will call upon the membership for work in the near future

W D Brown manager and secretary of the chamber urged the support of those present in the clean up and paint up campaign to be sponsored next spring

Mrs I. K Warner chairman of the nutrition committee received a check for $100 presented last night by Ralph T Lewis in behalf of the Marion Livestock Co., a newly organized concern.

Daily Proverb—"He who goes the contrary way must go over it twice."

Secretary of Labor William N. Doak reports that the immigration bureau deported 21,100 aliens in 1931 and permitted 12,100, who had entered the country illegally, to leave it at their own expense. Something of a showing, that, we'll say.

The British propose the ending of gas and submarine warfare. Humanity as a whole would rejoice over the success of the proposal, but it is handicapped somewhat by the fact that it comes from Great Britain, which is comparatively weak along both these forms of warfare and unusually strong upon the sea.

From New Orleans comes report that the Louisiana delegation to the Democratic national convention will cast the state's twenty votes for at least three ballots for Huey P. Long for president. State pride surely is not without some mighty peculiar manifestations at times.

The power boat, Choctows, with $90,000 worth of liquor aboard, was seized by a coast guard patrol boat off New London, Connecticut, a day or two ago. Herewith we have evidence that the entire coast guard has not been corrupted through the operation of the "experiment, noble in purpose."

Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, has recovered from his recent attack of influenza and is again back in his seat in the senate. Up to date, we have not heard any declaration from the senator regarding entrance into the Ohio primary.

Three young men have died out in Indiana within a week as the result of engaging in "boxing" matches. Boxing matches should be barred in the interests of humanity and ring events limited to something safe in the pugilistic line such as championship battles.

The war department is sounding a warning against the cutting down of its size along the lines proposed under the urge of pacificistic propaganda. The reds, the parlor pinks, the yellows, the pacificists, and the internationalists are playing their game to hamstring the government to the limit during these times of economic recession!

Canada's Great New Phone Line.

Today the all-Canadian transcontinental telephone toll line was opened for public service, and for the first time Canadians in all parts of the Dominion were able to carry on long-distance conversations without having to utilize lines outside the boundaries of their country.

The new line, which reaches from Halifax, Nova Scotia, on the Atlantic coast, to Victoria, British Columbia, on the Pacific, was officially inaugurated by the governor general of Canada and the lieutenant governors of the eight provinces through which it passes.

The line, which is 4,800 miles in length, is not a government enterprise. It is the property of four private Canadian telephone companies and three provincial governments, which entered into a partnership and invested $8,000,000 therein, the parties to the partnership being the Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Company, Ltd., the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, Ltd., the Manitoba Telephone system, the Saskatchewan Government Telephones, the Alberta Government Telephones and the British Columbia Telephone company associated with the Associated-General telephone group. It was the 625-mile section of the line built by the British Columbia company which presented the most difficult engineering problems, as practically all of it was through the Rocky mountains. The Canadian Rockies are famed the world over for their rugged grandeur, and this ruggedness which gives to them their great beauty served notably to increase the problems which the telephone engineers were forced to face. Each telephone company in the new partnership furnished all the facilities and did the work of construction in its own territory, and an idea of the undertaking may be better had when it is stated that the construction of the system required the building or rebuilding of 2,000 miles of new toll lines, despite the fact that the poles of the Canadian Pacific Railway company were utilized whenever otherwise there would have been duplication of pole routes.

Thus it is that after today, the people of Canada, in talking between eastern and western Canadian points, will no longer have their connections routed by way of Boston, New York, Chicago and Seattle, or the opposite, as heretofore. Henceforth they can talk throughout the length and breadth of their country over Canadian lines, which will not only be a matter of convenience, but also a matter of pride on the part of our neighbors to the north.

Mr. Mellon's Task.

Exercise of the public right to hold administrative acts open to questioning always is exercised, but not always wisely. There might well be practice of open-minded moderation in discussing President Hoover's appointment of Andrew W. Mellon as ambassador to Great Britain. Loose tongues wagging about doubtful premises are adding to misunderstanding at a time when straight thinking should be the national aim.

Friday morning the London Times said: "Nothing could be more welcome to this country than the news that the torch of the official American representation in London is to be passed from the hands of one of the most distinguished citizens of the United States to those of one not less distinguished."

A liberal paper, the News-Chronicle, said the appointment of Mr. Mellon was regarded with immense satisfaction and added: "A man great in power and influence in America, as his twelve years of service as secretary of the treasury show, he has always been sympathetic toward Britain and has taken a liberal view of the whole problem of international indebtedness. As ambassador he will do much to strengthen the understanding between the two countries and to insure coordination of policy in the future."

Surely, Mr. Mellon's countrymen can feel glad that the administration was able to call on a man of such favorable international repute to help in the solution of the problem it is dedicated to solving. Any one of several men might have been acceptable to Britain at this time, but none of them would have been received so enthusiastically as Mr. Mellon, who is thoroughly conversant with the common issues engaging the attention of the United States and Great Britain.

It is expected that a more satisfactory settlement of war debts and reparation payments will be one of Mr. Mellon's chief duties. In view of the interest federal taxpayers take in disposition of the debt and reparation, Mr. Mellon's opinions as they have been expressed from time to time are timely.

He believes those who insist upon impossible terms are unconsciously working for entire repudiation of the debts. "We must settle upon such terms as will give our debtor reasonable opportunity to live and to prosper. More it will not pay and more we can not collect."

He never has entertained suggestions of cancellation. "We purchased supplies and services from France and the British empire by hundreds of millions of dollars. They had to be paid for in francs and pounds. We did not get those francs and pounds on credit—we paid cash for them....It must also be obvious that if the amounts to be paid by all our debtors are to be reduced and a corresponding reduction is to be made in the amount of reparations to be paid by Germany, the net effect of the change will be to transfer the burden of reparation payments from the shoulders of the German taxpayer to those of the American taxpayer."

Finally, in a statement to the house ways and means committee, this paragraph is found: "The settlements are made in the real interests of those American producers who must have a foreign market able to pay. The American producer needs these debt settlements. The entire foreign debt is not worth as much to the American people in dollars and cents as a prosperous Europe as a customer."

The task of carrying on the liquidation of the World war is worthy of Mr. Mellon, and he is worthy of the task. There is real cause for regret in the fact that he is not twenty years younger as he prepares to tackle a colossal financial problem at the Court of St. James.

Dr. Julius Neumueller, of the Pennsylvania State College of Optometry, told a Chicago gathering recently that futuristic art as executed by well-known modern painters has much in common with the drawing of insane persons. Still, it will not do to assign priority to the doctor in arriving at this view.

France wants the United States to enter an organization outside the League of Nations to police the world, but it's hard to vision America falling for the plan. We got our fill during the World war of "making the world safe for democracy."

Dr. Julius Curtius, German foreign minister, charges that France is seeking to arouse discord at the Geneva conference. Possibly true, but why limit the thing to France? There are other nations just as anxious to dodge disarmament as the French republic.

Police Reform.

When the International Association of Police Chiefs replies to a questionnaire that divorcing the chief's position from politics is the most vivid step toward stamping out crime that needs to be taken, thousands of municipalities can but bow their heads in shame. Honesty dictates but one answer to the almost universal charge of police corruption: the public's own misuse of the police system is the basis of the corruption. There never can be honest police until the people are willing to live under supervision that permits no favors and political "pull."

Things are better now, perhaps, than they were. An outraged public has forced investigations and improved conditions in many cities. But police chiefs still realize that there never will be any considerable improvement until they are freed from political control—or, to put it more brutally, until police are permitted to do what is good for the city without being sidetracked constantly by the demands of individuals holding positions in which they can exert power.

The party of New Yorkers, made up of Waldo Frank, Edmund Wetson, Mary Heaton Vorse, Elsie Reed, Mitchell Malcolm Crowley, Polly Bryden and Lester M. Oak, going to Harlan, Kentucky, to distribute food among the poor and at the same time "test the right of free speech," was told to go ahead with the food distribution, but was at the same time warned by the county authorities that the first one to attempt a red speech would be slammed into jail. That certainly was taking the joy out of living for that particular crowd.

Editorial Opinion.

OUR AMERICA.

America has done well in not acting alone with reference to the present Pacific crisis. This is world business. We have been the goat in international affairs quite often enough. England and others are welcome as a partner in this police duty in the interests of civilization, and in the event of more serious developments, doubly welcome at the shoulder of Uncle Sam.

We are, and have the right to be proud of our country and of our civilization, which pleads for peace, but, as General Harbord has said, "we are here not because we believe our government is perfect, but because we believe it is the best that human intelligence has yet been able to devise."

We therefore, properly are disturbed by any event which even remotely seems to threaten our institutions and the interests of our people. We get, in democracy, as the general recently observed, whether in federal, state or municipal government, exactly what we deserve. Our indifference well might be our undoing. If we do not have better government, greater security, it is our own fault. The nation must be able to adapt itself to swiftly recurving facts.

New theories of government should not interest us except as we are impelled to antagonize and oppose them. Nothing yet better than our own has been proposed—certainly not the diabolism of Russia, which has banished God; certainly not the imperialism of Japan, which now emulates the ruthless imperialism of the old Germany; certainly not the personal control of Italy's arrogant dictatorship; certainly not the selfish nationalism of France.

All of these theories of government do violence to everything the Anglo-Saxon race has held dear, and we should cling to our standards, be at all times adequately prepared to protect and defend them.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

COWARDICE OR COMMON SENSE?

Joseph P. Tumulty, whom some of our readers may possibly remember as secretary to Woodrow Wilson, while the latter was in the White House, accuses Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mr. Newton D. Baker, of cowardice because they have recently expressed a disinclination to try to ram the League of Nations down the throat of this country.

"Surely a leadership like this, that is afraid to fight, that is afraid to stand firm against the crowd," says Mr. Tumulty, "does not captivate one like myself who had the privilege of being associated with President Wilson." After reading Mr. Tumulty's "Woodrow Wilson as I Know Him," one feels that the privilege of association was wholly Mr. Wilson's and doubts a little of the author's qualifications to speak for the latter twelve years after the League of Nations was born. There is a possibility that Mr. Wilson himself, if he were alive today, would disown this child of his intellectual loins.

What Mr. Wilson would think of the way the League of Nations has developed is not the important thing at the moment. As he discovered it is the "crowd," which Mr. Tumulty despises and wants to fight, that ultimately has the last word in the government of this country. The "expediency" which Mr. Tumulty denounces and which would have enabled Woodrow Wilson, if he had not ignored it, to translate more of his idealism into operative realism, also is not to be sneezed at in this imperfect world.

The fact is that the League of Nations has turned out very differently from what Mr. Wilson hoped it would become. The American people thoroughly realize that. At this time, with conditions in Europe as they are, a party that fought an election on the issue of the United States entering the League would cut its own throat before polling day. Governor Roosevelt and Mr. Baker are politically wise enough to see that and courageous enough to come out and say frankly where they stand on the question.—Detroit Free Press.

High Blood Pressure.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

High blood pressure is one of the common ailments complained of in modern times. It was unrecognized by the old-time practitioner. Even now it may not be discovered until it has left its damaging effect upon the body.

Frequently I am asked what the blood pressure should be at different ages. A sort of "rule of thumb" for determining the normal blood pressure is to add one hundred to the age. This will give the approximate, but of course not wholly accurate answer.

The pressure found in a healthy person between twenty and thirty years of age varies between one hundred and one hundred and twenty. As we grow older the blood pressure rises. This is due to certain changes which take place in the walls of the blood vessels. The small arteries become hard and lose their elasticity.

Since the health of the arteries greatly influences the blood pressure, it is often said that "a man is as old as his arteries." Some persons of a given age show a tendency toward higher blood pressure than others. Every case must be considered on its individual merits.

Sometimes elevation of the pressure is for brief periods only. A steady high blood pressure is dangerous. It forces the heart to do extra work. This additional burden long carried weakens the heart and may damage that organ. It becomes enlarged and eventually is unable to function.

The damage is not to the heart alone. It may affect the kidneys. Bright's disease is often associated with high blood pressure. The physician will make regular urine examinations in cases of persistent high blood pressure.

Persons such as we are describing require rest and careful attention. Excitement and severe exertion should be avoided. The diet should be regulated. Excesses are always dangerous, but if the blood pressure is high it is important to avoid eating too much meat, meat soups, tea, coffee, alcohol and condiments.

Warm baths are beneficial, but hot baths are harmful. A person who suffers from high blood pressure should have a daily elimination. Constipation is dangerous, for it permits poisons to collect in the body. The blood pressure of every person over forty years of age should be taken at least once a year. If it is too high, early discovery will permit much to be done which will prevent damaging effects on the heart and kidneys.

Bear in mind that the individual element enters into the matter. We are not alike, and what is above the average for one may not be abnormal after all. It is foolish to worry over it.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

Mrs. C.L. Q.—What do you advise for superfluous hair?

A.—Send self addressed, stamped envelope for full particulars and repeat your question.

• • •

Mrs. E.C.G. Q.—I am twenty-seven years of age, five feet tall and weigh about 116 pounds. My blood pressure is about 112. Is this too low? What can I do to correct the trouble?

2.—What would cause a brassy taste in the mouth?

A.—Your blood pressure is a little too low. This condition is usually found accompanying some other disturbance. For full particulars send a self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2.—This is probably due to auto-intoxication. Keep the system clear. Proper diet and exercise should do much to clear up the trouble. For full particulars send a self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

• • •

Mrs. C.I.C. Q.—I am a man of twenty-seven and have to work hard and have long hours. During the daytime I seem to enjoy the best of health but at night I am subject to attacks of perspiration and nausea on arising. What would you advise?

A.—See your doctor for examination and advice. Do not overeat and be sure that your bowels are functioning properly.

• • •

"Discouraged." Q.—What will remove red veins in the nose?

A.—Consult a skin specialist for treatment.—Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Austria Strikes Oil.

BY ALFRED TYRNAUER

Vienna, Feb. 10—I N.S.—The habitation of epicurean cannibals, 5,000 years ago, has been discovered in the valley of the Danube, near Herzogenburg and Ladendorf in lower Austria, by Professor J. Bayer, director of the Vienna Natural History museum.

A great number of special utensils were found in the bottle-shaped subterranean dwellings. Chief among these utensils was an immense frying pan with huge pegs on the inside. It still contained pieces of human bones.

The Danube cannibals used tools of stone, clay and wood, and weapons of polished bone and stone. Remains of animal skeletons show the prehistoric gourmands kept also goats and dogs and ate sometimes deer and bear meat.

• • •

Later, Austrians seem to have become more amicable and their womenkind more pretentious. Austrian ladies two thousand years ago were eager customers of the cosmetic industry of ancient Rome, it appears.

In the recently discovered Roman baths near the Upper Austrian city of Wels, a number of oil jars were found bearing the inscription. "OL NIG EXD EXC."

The Vienna archeologist, Dr Rudolph Egger was able to decipher the words. Upon reconstruction they read: "OLiva NIGra ExDulci EXCellens.' In Egglish: "Oil, Black, Sweet, Prime Quality."

This inscription was the trade mark of the Roman merchant, who sent the stone jars, large amphorae, to his customers in Upper Austria. The oil was used for ointments after the bath.

• • •

The excavations directed by Dr. Egger, were highly successful during the past year. In the neighborhood of Lienz, eastern Tyrol, the remains of an ancient Celtic city were discovered.

Hundreds of valuable finds have been made, such as domestic articles of clay and stone, tools, weapons, and remarkable pieces of art.

The eastern wall of the settlement dating back as far as 100 B. C. was laid free almost entirely. The remaining portions of the settlement will be excavated this year, if sufficient funds can be raised for the work of the scientists.

• • •

Digging is sometimes more profitable than excavation. This was proved by the accidental discovery of an oil well near the small village of Windischbaumgarten, in Lower Austria.

This is the first time that oil had been struck in Austria, and it is considered to be of tremendous economic importance, so much the more as the experimental boring brought very good results. The analysis of the oil and accompanying gas showed that it is pure petroleum with a high percentage of gasoline.

Experts are most optimistic as to the further development of the hitherto unsuspected oil fields in Austria, and it is already rumored that American, British and French oil interests are competing for the new oil lands.

• • •

Austria has no capital to carry on and but little gold, though it has some old gold mines. No wonder that the government decided to resume experimental mining in the gold-mining district of the Tauern mountains, which was neglected for a long period owing to unproductiveness.

It is an old saying, however, that poor devils are the most passionate golddiggers.

Westerville's Name.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

It is a Dutch name, though modified so as to conceal the fact, that the village of Westerville bears. This in spite of the fact that it was settled by New England persons. The original settlers were from Windsor, Connecticut, and went there in 1806. The founder of Westerville did not go until twelve years later. He was Matthew Westervelt, and he came from Dutchess county, New York, which was settled by Hollanders. Westervelt had been on the ground for more than twenty years before the idea of establishing a town occurred to him.

Westerville was founded in 1839, but was not incorporated as a municipality until 1858. Westervelt seemed to have been a lover of education as well as a man of business ability, for it was he who procured the establishment in his town of the Blendon Young Men's seminary. It flourished until the Methodists started Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware, only twenty-two miles distant, with much better equipment than the seminary could hope to have soon. It was evident at once that an education institute of the kind in Westerville could not be maintained on an independent basis, and Westervelt again came to its aid, and opened negotiations with the United Brethren church to take it over and make it a college. Westervelt had given to the seminary a tract of twenty-five acres and some good improvements had been made upon it. This under the offer went to the United Brethren organization, and became Otterbein college. It was established in 1847.

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Saturday, February 10.

Notes were exchanged between the United States and Germany regarding the protection of the open-door policy in China.

Russell, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Rider, residing south of the city, narrowly escaped death from the effects of eating a box of Olive tablets. Prompt medical aid saved his life.

County Commissioners Henry Seiter, A. H. Trout and J. K. Leeper and County Surveyor George E. Dwyer were being joshed over a seven-mile walk they had taken the day before, following the breaking down of their automobile in a big snowdrift seven miles this side of Upper Sandusky.

A marriage license was issued to Edna May Jones and Andrew Jackson Hacock.

Miss Nellie Belle Wright and Mr. Harry L. Clark were married at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. J. P. Currin.

Misses Helen Hall and Gertrude Keightley were seriously injured while coasting on south State street.

PYTHIANS HONOR VETERAN MEMBERS

More Than 100 Present When "Old Timers" Fill Chair Offices.

More than 100 attended last night when Canby lodge, No. 51, Knights of Pythias, celebrated "old timers" night at the hall. The officers' chairs were filled by past chancellors who served more than 30 years ago.

Glenn Sparks of Mt. Vernon, grand chancellor-elect who was to have been the speaker, was unable to attend because of illness. The welcome to the veteran members was given by Ralph Carhart, with William Gorton responding. James Wark, one of the oldest Pythians present, a Pythian for more than 50 years, gave a short talk. Frank Schaffner, one of the oldest members of Canby lodge, was an honor guest and also spoke. Lunch was served at the conclusion of the program.

Visitors present were from Kent, Ottawa, Lima, Caledonia, Waldo, Morral and other points. The page rank was conferred on two candidates.

Past chancellors of more than 30 years ago who filled the chairs were Joseph T. Matthews, chancellor commander; Hilbert D. Uline, vice chancellor; Henry M. Mumford, prelate; W. N. Childers, master of work; William J. Gorton, keeper of records and seals; W. C. Phillians, master of finance; Hoke Donithen, master of exchequer; M. R. Swisher, master at arms; Samuel B. Lewis, inner guard and William E. Landes, outer guard. Mr. Matthews was chancellor 45 years ago when Warren G. Harding was initiated.

Three members attending last night presented memberships totaling 159 years. They were "Uncle Bill" Gabler of Waldo, who has been a member for 56 years, Frank Schaffner, 52 years, and B. F. Waples, 51 years.

PLAN TO WORK PEAT DEPOSITS IN COUNTY

Large Beds Near Mt. Gilead Have High Rating; Order Already Received.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Feb 10—Plans are under way for a new Morrow county industrial plant as the result of the discovery that peat deposits on the farm of R. S. Giles, three and one half miles north of here can be commercially exploited. Analysis of the peat there by Ohio state university chemists disclosed that the peat is of a higher quality than any from any other part of the state analyzed at the university.

A plant for taking out the peat and preparing it for the market will be erected at once if the plans of Giles are carried out. Associated with him is Kenneth Holtrey. Holtrey will organize the selling end of the business and Giles will be in charge of production. A large warehouse for storing and packing the finished product will be erected. Pumps, grinder and a steam shovel for removing the peat will be required.

Orders for approximately 11 carloads of the material have already been booked. It is used by greenhouses and landscape architects. The material contains two per cent nitrogen, 91½ per cent organic matter and only 6½ per cent ash.

The peat beds occupy a surface area of approximately 100,000 square yards a preliminary survey shows and there is not less than 200,000 cubic yards available near the surface. Route 61, the Mt. Gilead-Galion road, runs directly through the beds as the farm is located on both sides of the road. State highway officials have experienced a great deal of difficulty in keeping the pavement intact through the beds as the roadway surface continually sinks in spite of years of effort to provide a solid foundation. The present concrete roadway has sunk at least a foot since it was built and the surface has been filled in with stone and tar.

TRAIN HITS TRUCK

Drive Shaft Breaks on Crossing of Railroad.

UPPER SANDUSKY, Feb. 10—A truck and trailer belonging to the M. G. Michael Wrecking Co. of Fremont was badly damaged Monday night when it stalled on the crossing of the A. C. & Y. railroad north of this city on the Tiffin-Upper Sandusky road. The drive shaft of the truck broke just as it was passing over the crossing and before it could be removed from the tracks an eastbound train struck the truck knocking it off the tracks, damaging the front end of the truck and causing some damage to the locomotive.

ASK STUDENT AID IN MOVIE PROJECT

Campaign for Sunday Shows Under Way at Ada.

By The Associated Press

ADA, O., Feb. 10—Students at Ohio Northern university who recently won the privilege of dancing, will be asked to aid in a new fight on behalf of Sunday movies.

Sunday movies were shown six weeks ago for the first time in this village's history. Members of the Women's Christian Temperance union asked council for an ordinance to stop it, but the council refused.

Meanwhile, Carl B. Moore, theater manager, obtained 200 signatures to a petition indorsing Sunday performances and said he would turn to the students for additional aid.

OHIO PRISON FARM SUBJECT OF INQUIRY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 10—Charges that the penitentiary produce farm at Richdale was unsuitable for raising vegetables were made before the senate committee investigating conditions at the institution today by Frank Held, former superintendent.

Held also charged that in order to make the farm show a profit, the products were billed to the prison at prices higher than were commanded on wholesale markets, and testified a flock of chickens was maintained at the farm by Warden P. E. Thomas and that Mrs. Thomas "raised Cain" with him when he fed several prisoners eggs from the flock.

Sues for $25,000.

BUCYRUS, Feb. 10—Total damages in the sum of $25,000 are sought in a suit filed in common pleas court today by Harold Kintz of Bucyrus against William S. Armentrout of Shelby and Ralph Hoffsis of Sulphur Springs as the outgrowth of an automobile crash near Sulphur Springs, Sept. 27.

COLDS

RUB Musterole well into your chest and throat—almost instantly you feel easier. Repeat the Musterole rub once an hour for five hours . . . what a glorious relief!

Those good old-fashioned cold remedies—oil of mustard, menthol, camphor—are mixed with other valuable ingredients in Musterole to make it what doctors call a "counter-irritant" because it gets action and is not just a salve.

It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

Panic Trails Hope

I'll see it," nodded Hope breathlessly over her coffee. "I want Dickey to finish college, too. I insist upon it. And it'll be lots of fun living up in Harmouth."

This last Hickey dismissed as unheard him.

"So much for my end," he exclaimed. "I'm very fond of Hope and proud of her. I'll do anything to make you two kids happy. As long as you're square with each other and with me.

"Now—don't thank me. We have other matters to consider. Hope's family. They are dreadfully upset. It's only natural. Half the night they've been searching for Hope. Then a boy named Crandall came here with the story of how you were drunk, Dickey."

"I was not!" denied the bridegroom hotly. "I had a couple of drinks—because I was mad with Hope but I—"

"Well, I didn't think you were drunk," J. Hickson Dale shook his head. "But the Crandall fellow evidently was in a fight with you, and this morning is suffering with a broken eardrum!"

"Oh, poor Rusty!" murmured Hope, nearly upsetting her coffee.

"That's only a minor issue. You're to do the manly thing there, Dickey, whatever it is. I don't know what your fight was about. At any rate, we'll foot his doctor's bills, if it comes to that.

Hope snickered openly. Imagine the Crandalls letting anyone foot the doctor bills for Rusty! Imagine the supreme disgust, the outraged insult of listening to old Hickey offering to pay for a broken eardrum inflicted by his rowdy son.

"The really important matter is still more serious," continued Hickey. "You two have got to go and see Mr. Ross. Right now. He's at home, waiting for you."

"Will you come with us?" asked Hope timidly.

"If you want me to. I think it would be better if you stood on your own, and didn't have me around to fight your battles. Besides, my Irish is not always calculable. I might break into a rash and commit melodrama. After what I heard on the phone, I'm sure I would.

"You two had better go alone and do the square thing. After that, come back to me. Because I'm for you. And I'll be right here to take care of everything. Try to make peace. Don't lose your temper, son. Remember, you had no right to do what you did. No right in the world. So it's up to you to make amends, and take your medicine. Take your medicine, and don't flinch. Only remember one thing! By the Almighty, you're no gutter pup, and you can make as fine a husband for Hope as the next one! Come back to me, and we'll show them. Eh, Hope?"

Hickey's voice had risen to a pitch of choler that showed how truly his spirit had been shaken by the treatment Papa Ross had evidently seen fit to hand him.

Hope's heart sank. She understood—swiftly and clearly. She had a swift vision of her father, with a grim, angry, unreasoning stare . . . Her fingertips grew cold. Even as she gathered Sassy up at Dickey's command and prepared to leave. Even as she flung her arms, kitten and all, around Hickey's neck and kissed him on the ruddy old cheek, telling him she was proud to be Mrs. Dale . . .

The ride back to the suburbs was ticklish. Dickey's mind was not on his driving. Both were chatting valiantly. Urgently. Agreeing on everything. They mustn't be too quick or insolent with Papa Ross, because Hope understands him, and Hope knew it was best to let him steam it all off first—and then talk! Agreed! But anyway they would stick together . . .

If they expected an armed array to meet them at the doorway of the Ross estate, Hope and Dickey were sadly disappointed. The huge colonial house was frozenly silent and quiet. Almost as if someone were dead—or seriously ill—within. A breathless suspense seemed to hang over the May gardens.

The roadster chugged up the gravel-way, and stopped with a hacking cough. Without a word Hope and Dickey climbed out, and mounted the steps hand in hand.

Rang the doorbell.

Hope—ringing her own doorbell. fear and tears in her throat. Standing, heart agog, before the same door where but 18 hours ago she had hurried gaily by, dressed for dinner at the Country Club.

Not a sound from within.

They rang again.

And almost simultaneously the door opened!

John Howard Ross himself opened the door. Tall, white, fiercely silent. Opened the door so quickly that both kids lost speech. Grasped Hope's arm and fairly yanked her inside the old hallway.

Slamming the door in Dickey's face!

Stick together, will they? With Dickey on one side of the huge iron doorway, and Hope on the other?

"Dad! Daddie!" cried Hope frantically, almost dropping her kitten in her panic. "Let Dickey——"

"Not a word out of you!" roared her father. "Go upstairs to your room!"

"I won't! I won't! Dad, you've got to listen to me! Dickey——"

"Go upstairs instantly!"

Hope caught her breath. She felt herself go weak. There was something close to insanity in the fury of her father's eyes! Where was good old Papa Ross—the big bluff who could always be kissed into reason? In his place stood some mighty stranger—some grim, towering creature who was the vice-president of two banks and who was used to being obeyed!

Her eyes closed. To blot out the vision of a father who looked as if he might kill! She turned, frightened, and started up the stairs.

Made straight for her room, gasping with terror. Where was everybody? Where were Mama and Goody? Why was the house so still and deathlike?

In her room, she closed the door. Maybe Papa Ross considered this man-to-man stuff. Maybe after talking to Dickey, he would speak to her. Maybe he and Dickey would fight . . . Oh, dear heaven, don't let them fight, because Dickey is much the stronger and wouldn't remember his strength . . Wouldn't it be awful if Dad had a broken ear-drum too?

Voices jerked her out of her panic. Dropping Sassy to the floor, she hurried over to the window. Her room was at the back of the house for its eastern exposure. She couldn't see. Not a thing. But she could hear. She could hear men's voices. Voices of the two men she loved.

"I want my wife!" she heard Dickey's yowl of anger.

She tried to make out the answer. Papa Ross's voice was too strained, too harshly pitched to understand . . Again Dickey's voice—getting savage!

For some inexplicable reason, Hope found herself crying. Panting with great, choking sobs, as she fell to her knees by the window and called out to Dickey—stretching out her arms to the hills of Westchester. Where there was no Dickey to see or hear; for Dickey was on the front steps, doubling his fists and bursting with the desire to swing a swift and unarguable uppercut . . .

Through her own sobs and calls she heard—heard a strange and fearsome noise that made her heart stand still. Struggling to her feet, she flung open her door and stumbled down the staircase, almost tripping at the landing so blind she was with tears.

And then in the hall she came face to face with her father. Her father, who was closing the door behind him with an enormous and thudding slam!

"Where . . .?" she stuttered, and then suddenly went voiceless.

The chug of a car answered her unfinished question.

For a moment, Hope stared through her tears at the immovable face of her father.

Her thoughts whirled around and around crazily. Where was Dickey going, and why had he left? Was he after the police? Was he hurt? Why was Papa Ross standing so stiffly, his arm limp at his side . . .?

To Be Continued.

Pleasant Relief From Constipation

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanished and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets will help save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c. All druggists.—Adv.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Stark Drama Interrupts Madge's Greeting of Hugh Grantland, as One of the Chinese Prisoners Suddenly Breaks Loose and Threatens Her!

EVEN with Dicky's eyes upon me, I could not repress a joyous gesture of greeting to Hugh Grantland, whom I had feared I never should see again. Dicky had come back to me safe from this expedition I had so dreaded, and, with his safety assured, I forgot the unjust and unreasoning resentment I had felt against Hugh for summoning my husband upon so dangerous an errand. I was free, I felt, to rejoice in the return of this loyal friend who so many times had warded off catastrophe for me and mine, even as now he was gently steering me away from the vicinity of the bound Chinese over whom Lee Chow was mounting guard.

"Oh, I'm so glad you're safe!" I said, stretching out my hand to him. "It's been so long since we heard anything of you, that we—all of us—were terribly anxious about you."

His hand closed over mine, and at its touch something flamed back in his eyes, something that told me more than a whole portfolio of letters, or than hours of impassioned speech.

A Cup of Friendship

He had not forgotten; That was what that look said. Wherever he had been, whatever had been his experiences in those months of silence, I was still to him what he had told me once long ago when I had sent him away from me—"the one woman in the world."

I should have been sorry. Decency, fair play, common sense, all clamored for disapproving regret upon my part. But any woman knows that the cup of a selfless devotion upon the part of a man who asks nothing save to love and serve from a distance, is a heady draught, given to but few women to drain, and one which simply cannot be thrown back in the face of the giver. It is the Sydney Carton motif, surefire in fiction, even more powreful in real life.

Thankful indeed was I that his words were commonplace enough, though the voice that enunciated them was not quite steady. But he was speaking in a low tone, and a quick, furtive glance showed me that Dicky was absorbed in working over the unconscious man. I cared no whit about anyone else in the room.

"And I was anxious about you people"—the word plainly was an afterthought. "But things got beyond my control a bit for a while—and—I'm lucky to be here at all."

The words were simple, but, as always when Hugh Grantland speaks of that part of his life hidden from ordinary ken, I visioned dark recesses of danger and intrigue of which he and his old and faithful friend, Lee Chow, were the center.

Yet the years had not taken their toll of him, as they had of so many men in the easier paths of life. A few more lines in his bronzed face, a deeper sprinkling of gray in his dark hair—those were all the changes I could see. There was no abatement of vigor in his strong, sinewy figure, and his eyes, his smile, were unchanged. Both Dicky and Harry Underwood are handsome men, but Hugh did not suffer in comparison with either of them.

"I will tell you all about it later," he said hastily, releasing my hand, as Lee Chow uttered a sibilant monosyllable. "Stand here, won't you? Please don't come any nearer to that bound man. He is as venomous as a cobra. I shall be thankful when we have him safely deported back to his own country."

I looked past him at the man of whom he was speaking, and for an instant something besides venom in those black eyes. Terror, stark, gripping, was there.

Did He Understand?

"Does he understand English?" I asked.

"I don't think so. Why?"

"I am sure he understood what you were saying just now. His eyes were suddenly—terrible with fear."

Hugh's own eyes were suddenly alert.

"That explains something," he said. "Thank you so much. I often have thought you had the keenest eyes of anyone I know. One cannot have secrets from you. And now, please excuse me for a little."

He went past me to Lee Chow and began to talk to him in English, but in words that sounded like a pied crossword puzzle. He was talking in code, I realized, and crossed to where Lillian was standing at the foot of the table upon which lay the man over whom Harry and Dicky were working. I pressed her arm in mute inquiry, and she nodded.

"He's coming round, all right, but he's shamming unconsciousness," she said out of the corner of her mouth.

The Viper Springs

I looked at the yellow face, still wet with the cold water with which the men had drenched it. The eyes were apparently closed, but I had the sensation of being watched closely, menacingly. I looked more closely at those closed eyes and detected the faintest slit beneath the almost hairless lids. The eyeballs were moving beneath those closed lids. I was sure of it, moving from side to side, watching for what?

One instant I was watching him, the next his apparently inert figure had gathered itself together, and flung itself upon me, bearing me to the floor. His wrists heavily handcuffed, rose in the air above my head.

"Maybe you kill me all lite, but first lil' lady gets these between eyes," he said. "If you let us go, nobody get hurt."

Cal May Prove the Wisdom of Keeping Silent

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 16 Former President Calvin Coolidge and the New York Life Insurance company, of which he is a director, have been named co-defendant in a $100,000 suit.

The suit was instituted by Lewis B. Tebbetts, a St. Louis insurance man, who alleges that his reputation has been damaged as a result of a radio talk given by Mr. Coolidge on October 6, 1931, and remarks afterward published in pamphlet form by the company.

Tebbetts is a proponent of "term insurance," or insurance for protection only. He alleges that Mr. Coolidge, in his radio talk, indirectly referred to him and his insurance methods and that these remarks were afterward printed in pamphlet form by the insurance company.

New Orleans Forgets Troubles To Celebrate Annual Mardi Gras.

By The Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 16—A talent for forgetting troubles and care en masse and joining in make-believe reasserted itself in New Orleans Tuesday as the whole city, joined by thousands of winter visitors, celebrated Mardi Gras—theoretically the last good time before Lent.

General masking and dancing in the streets was the order of the day with willing subjects bowing to the command of Rex, ruler of the carnival, that happiness should reign supreme.

Rex was borne into the city on a gold leaf throne, heading 20 floats that moved through jammed streets.

To improve Any child's

APPETITE

If you want your child to eat more to gain and grow strong, begin this very night with the famous "California treatment!"

A sluggish appetite means a sluggish colon. Correct this condition called auto, and see how quickly a listless, drooping boy or girl begins to eat—and gain! The only "medicine" such children need is pure, unadulterated fig syrup.

California fig syrup is doing wonderful things for ailing, sickly children all over the United States.

The one way to conquer constipation If your baby, boy, or girl is bilious—pale-faced and dull-eyed from constipation—breath bad mornings, tongue coated all the time—don't give cathartics that weaken twenty feet of bowels! Instead, a little fig syrup that doesn't disturb either stomach or bowels, but does act on the lower colon—where the trouble lies.

Nature never made a finer laxative for children; and they all love the wholesome, fruity flavor of the real California fig syrup. It's purely vegetable, but every druggist has it all bottled, with directions. Begin with it at once. Your child will soon be eating better and feeling better. Keep on with the fig syrup a few days and see amazing improvement in appetite, color, weight, and spirits.

Children who get fig syrup, now and then, keep well and avoid colds.

Calvary Stops Reformed To Take Church League Lead

SPORTS

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

Over in Ashland last week, Bill McKee of The Times-Gazette raised his voice in formal protest against the starting time of the N. C. O. basketball games. The league rules call for the reserve games to commence at 7:15 with the varsity clash coming an hour later. McKee insisted, and was correct, that every school was starting the first game about 15 to 20 minutes late.

Maybe it was his protest and maybe it was something else but anyway Ashland's game with Shelby last Friday started at 8:16 (I'm a stickler for accuracy), just one minute late. In the future Ashland's games will all start on time, the public is given to understand. Marion fans who have been getting to the games 15 minutes after the scheduled starting time and seeing all of both clashes will do well to remember that point Friday when Harding invades the Hilltop city. That is, if they care to see all of both games.

• • •

Harding, up to last Friday was no better than the rest in this business of starting on time. Until the game with Bucyrus every contest started something like 15 minutes late. The Bucyrus game started on time. Whether it was an accident or not I don't know. I'm not particularly interested. What I'm interested in is having the rest of the Marion home games commence at 7:15 p. m. There really isn't any reason why they can't be started at that time as easily as later. The extra 15 minutes of sleep which starting the games on time will allow, means a lot—at least to me.

• • •

Followers of the Marion city Sunday school basketball race will have to wait a little longer than expected before finding out who is going to be the successor to the city championship now held by the First Presbyterians. On account of the Y. M. C. A. conference which will be in session Friday night the clash between Epworth M. E. and Central Christians has been postponed until Tuesday, Feb. 23. There will be no games played Friday night of this week on the Y court.

If the postponement does nothing else it will give the Hot Stove league a little more time to argue about the probable winner of the city championship. Three teams are in the race, Calvary, Epworth and Central Christians.

Breaks Record

The highspot of the annual games of the Millrose Athletic Association at Madison Square Garden, New York, was the amazing performance of Gene Venzke (above), amateur track star of Pottstown, Pa. Venzke won a sensational victory in the Wanamaker mile, the feature event, by setting a new record of 4 minutes 11.1-5 seconds, breaking the long-standing mark of the great Finnish runner, Paavo Nurmi.

TRINITY VICTOR IN OVERTIME CONFLICT

Forest Lawn Loses to Baptists; Lee Street Takes Battle from Irish.

Getting off to a 14 point advantage in the first half, the Calvary Evangelical Sunday school basketball team withstood a First Reformed second half rally last night and climbed into a temporary half game lead in the race for the city church championship. Calvary turned back the First Reformed quintet by a 25-16 score. In two other games played last night on the Y court, Trinity Baptist recorded a 27-22 victory over Forest Lawn in an overtime conflict and Lee Street won from St. Mary's 20-16.

Calvary Evangelical, by its victory last night moves into a half game lead over the Central Christians and Epworth M. E. teams with seven won and one lost against six won and one lost for the other two title contenders. Calvary has only to defeat Trinity Baptist to assure itself of a tie for the title with either the Christians or Epworth.

Calvary Starts Fast

Calvary applied a coat of whitewash to First Reformed in the first period last night, scoring five points and holding the opponents to none for the period. Reformed dropped in a free throw and a field goal just before the half ended to ring up the only three points scored in the entire first half.

Reformed came back strong in the third period and waged an even battle against Calvary although the much greater heighth of the Calvary players proved a severe handicap. Reformed outscored the winners in the third period by one point and then came back again in the final frame and played them off their feet. However, the 14 point advantage was too much to overcome.

Lee Street Wins

Lee Street and St. Mary's put on a rough and tumble battle that saw two players ruled from the court for unnecessary roughness. Personal fouls were numerous. The two teams battled on even terms in the first half and then Lee Street jumped into the lead with some accurate long range shots. St. Mary's rallied in the final frame but fell short in its efforts to overtake the leaders.

Forest Lawn trailed Trinity Baptist by just a few points for three quarters of the game and then staged a rally that tied the score at 22-22 at the end of the regular playing time and forced the game into a three minute overtime period. Two baskets and a single charity toss in the extra time brought about the downfall of the East side Presbyterian team.

AMERICAN BOB SLED PILOTS TRAILING IN LAKE PLACID EVENTS

Swiss Star Records Best Time in Daring Dashes of Olympics.

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 10—Four seconds behind, the United States faced the loss today of mastery in the bob run, the Olympic sport dominated in the 1928 winter Olympics.

Four years ago Jack Heaton, an American living abroad, journeyed to St. Moritz, for a vacation, got a sled and a partner, and won the two-man event.

Billy Fiske, did the same thing in the four-man event, and the United States became nominal leader of the sport.

Then the United States, planning for the winter Olympics here, built the finest, most daring run in the world down a barren mountain side. The boys learned to take its tremendous curves at 70 miles an hour.

Swiss Pilot Leads

Today, entering final heats of the two-man-event, Hubert Stevens, of Lake Placid, was second to a 20-year-old Swiss, Reto Capadrutt.

Capadrutt set up runs of 2 minutes, 5.88 seconds, and 2:07.21, both better than Stevens' world mark of 2:07 that stood until yesterday.

Stevens was second with a total of 4 minutes 17.37 seconds, but his second run, on runners heated almost white hot with blow torches, was clocked in 2.04.28, giving him the world's record.

Jack Heaton put together runs of 2:15.02 and 2:07 51 to land third place, but he, like the champions of Germany, Rumania, Italy, Belgium, France and Austria, seemed all but out of the competition.

Byrd Sees Races

Among the 10,000 who braved the five-below-zero weather, to watch was Rear Admiral Richard Byrd. He liked the sport so well he promptly promoted himself a ride with Harry Grayson Martin, member of one of the United States teams.

Carl Schaefer, young university student of Vienna, was crowned men's Olympic figure skating champion early today.

The judges reaching their third decision several hours after completion of the men's competition last night.

TUNNEY BLASTS REPORT HE WILL TRY COMEBACK

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—Those who have been building up the pleasant fiction that Gene Tunney contemplates a fighting come-back may just as well knock down the structure of their imagination.

On the authority of Tunney himself, the former world's champion has never and will not entertain the slightest idea of returning to the ring.

"When retired from the ring, I mean it," he told me today. I reminded him of stories that had been printed and recently repeated, predicting circumstances might dictate otherwise, or that he might yield to some pressure.

"Yes, I know all about that," he replied, "and of course I cannot stop anyone from making a suggestion in the newspapers as to what I may or may not do. Nor do I take them seriously.

Is Enjoying Life

"The way I feel now is that I have my own life to lead and work out. I have my private interests I am happy in what I am doing. I enjoyed writing my life story, yet I am surprised that so much interest is shown in it.

"I still am keenly interested in boxing and always will be. Why not? It was a big part of my life. But what a fool I would be ever to think of attempting a comeback."

But Jack Dempsey, it was suggested, appeared to be contemplating one.

"Yes, and you know, I hate to think of it," replied the man who twice whipped the great man mauler.

Dempsey Slowing Down

"We all like to think of Dempsey at his best, as a great champion The reputation he made means something. It means more, I think than the risk of being beaten now by men he would have whipped easily in his prime. He was beginning to slow down, four or five years ago, and it would be just that much harder for him now to come back.

"Carnera, with that remarkable left and his size, would be difficult for Dempsey to beat. Schmeling, improving as rapidly as he has, would have the advantage of youth and ruggedness. I do not think Sharkey would go down so easily again in a bout with the former champion."

"You know," Gene added, "Dempsey did not want a third fight with me. When Tex Rickard proposed it, Jack in effect asked 'What and take a chance of being punched blind? No thanks'."

GOLDEN RULED CLUB BOOKS FIGHT CARD

Red Campbell and Cliff Frost will headline the wrestling card of the Golden Ruled club Thursday night in the regular weekly combination wrestling-boxing program presented by the club. They will meet in a one hour time limit two falls to win match. In the semi-final 30-minute bout, Art Amick will meet Ky Boggs. In the 15-minute preliminary Johnny Wrenn will take on Young Cicero.

K. O. Strait and Frankie Del Marr will headline the boxing card in a four-round battle at 135 pounds. Slip Eymon and Ike Jones will meet in the semi-final four-rounder and Red Owens will take on Earl Dixon in preliminary.

REISELT VICTOR OVER THURNBLAD TO FINISH SECOND IN TOURNEY

Philadelphian Wins Playoff of World's Three Cushion Billiards Tournament.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 10—Entrants in the world three cushion billiard championship today were on their way about their business, taking with them various shares of the $25,000 in prizes.

The big share, more than $8,000, will remain in Chicago with Augie Kieckhefer, who defeated Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia, Monday night for the championship

Reiselt defeated Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago, who won the 1931 tournament, in the playoff for second place last night, 50 to 39 in 44 innings, to win $5,100, while Thurnblad's share for third place was $1,800.

Johnny Layton, ten times champion, rallied to win the playoff for fourth position, and win $1,500. He defeated Frank Scoville of Buffalo, 50 to 40 in 45 innings, and Gus Copulos of Eugene, Ore., 50 to 40 in 53 innnings.

More than 30 polo players will compete in winter games at Miami, Fla. this year.

Rookie To Get Trial at First Base for Indians

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O.—Although Eddie Morgan, first sacker for the Cleveland Indians, finished with a .361 batting average last season, he has been on the block all winter with no takers.

Moreover, he faces a battle this season for his position in the lineup.

The reason is not in Eddie's batting—he led the league for a part of the season and finished high among the sluggers—but in his fielding.

Morgan got off on the wrong foot with the fans last season when he adopted holdout tactics. Although he began hitting at a tremendous pace once he got back into the harness, he never was able to regain completely his favor with the fans who were quick to point out weaknesses at first base.

With the hot stove league session on, Manager Roger Peckinpaugh pointed out that his team lost 24 games because of faulty play around three positions in the infield, including first base.

This number of games transferred from the losing to the win-column would have lifted the Indians from fourth berth to close behind the Athletics.

So Peckinpaugh started a series of dickers, involving talk of Morgan for Ralph Kress of the St Louis Browns; Morgan for Joe Boley of the Athletics; Morgan to the White Sox; Morgan to the Senators, and so forth. But no one wanted Morgan bad enough.

Eddie will be back with the Indians, with his playing position in doubt.

A recruit by the name of Bruce Connatser, like Morgan an alumnus of the New Orleans Pelicans, is scheduled to give Eddie a battle for the perch on first sack.

Connatser, brought to Cleveland late last season, played a dozen nice games at first base. The only question is whether he can hit big league pitching.

If he beats Morgan out, the latter will be put to it to beat Vosmik Earl Averill or Dick Porter out of a job in the outer garden. This trio composed one of the classiest outfields in the league last year.

Originally an outfielder, Morgan took the first base job because it was assigned him. When it became apparent he was not a first baseman, his outfield job had been sewed up by the above combination.

CHICAGO RELEASES FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 10—The University of Chicago will meet Yale as its only major football foe outside of the Wesern conference next fall.

The schedule, dropping an opening date doubleheader, the practice for several years, follows:

Sept. 24, Monmouth at Chicago; Oct. 8, Chicago at Yale; Oct. 15, Knox at Chicago; Oct. 22, Indiana at Chicago; Oct. 29, Illinois at Chicago; Nov. 5, Purdue at Chicago; Nov. 12, Chicago at Michigan; Nov. 19, Wisconsin at Chicago.

LEAD DEADLOCKED IN SIX-DAY RACE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 10—Jules Audy of Montreal, and William Peden, of Vancouver, B. C., were tied for first place today in the international six-day bicycle race with Carl Stockholm of Chicago, and Normal Hill of San Jose, Cal., as well as Predent De Lille of Paterson, N. J., and Mickey Rodak of Chicago.

Overnight, 102 laps were gained, bringing the total to 348.

Only twelve teams remained in the race. Arturo Bresciani and Aventi Martinetti and Steve Wagner and Pete Smessaert dropped out last night.

CENTRAL LEADS TWO JUNIOR HIGH RACES

Central Junior High school continues to lead two divisions of play in the city Junior High school basketball league. The Central Ninth grade team is on top with four victories and no defeats and the Central Eighth tossers hold the same record.

STOCK SHARES GET SUPPORT

Decline of Prices Checked After Several New Lows Are Touched.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—The stock market met support today, in the same areas where the decline was checked in early January.

The turn came after several issues had registered new lows in the day's dealings, and was accompanied with a run in of shorts in Union Pacific, in advance of tomorrow's dividend meeting. Trade reports was on the whole still rather poor, but Washington news to the effect that Senator Glass' bill to revise federal reserve act was being considered met with a favorable response in some quarters in Wall street.

Union Pacific pushed up more than 6 points. Auburn fully recovered an early drop of nearly 6 points. Morning losses of 1 to 2 points in prominent issues were generally erased, and net gains of similar extent appeared during the afternoon in such issues as U. S. Steel, American Can, American Telephone, Eastman, Westinghouse, Case, Dupont, Consolidated Gas, Johns Manville, New York Central, Santa Fe, Missouri Pacific preferred and New Haven.

The market's ability to rally was regarded as encouraging by market theorists who would have regarded inability of the market to hold at the January resistance levels as indicating that the major trend was still downward.

The rally, however, appeared largely dependent upon short covering for its motive power.

While the exact nature of the revisions of the Glass bill were not disclosed, Wall street, in the main interpreted favorably reports of an energetic, non-partisan effort to enact a new bill.

The original bill had been vigorously opposed by several Wall street bankers, who regarded it as deflationary.

The upturn in Union Pacific was accompanied by rumors that directors would declare the regular quarterly dividend of $2.50.

SHARES HEAVY ON BIG BOARD

Stock Market Persists in Maintaining Heavy Tone; Changes Minor.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—The stock market persisted in maintaining a slightly heavy tone in the early trading today, but most of the leaders were barely changed.

Auburn reacted 1¼ during the first half hour to a new low for the movement, and Allied Chemical and American Tobacco "B" sold off about a point. Such issues as U. S. Steel, American Telephone and General Motors were steady.

An outstanding feature of the crop reports relative to domestic winter wheat was emphasis on advices that there had been no apparent injury from the cold waves of the last 10 days. It was especially made clear in an official summary that Ohio valley wheat was doing well, and that although the ground had been bare during the low temperatures no damage was reported. Announcement, however, that the foreign wheat quota in France had again been increased, and was now 15 per cent compared with 10 per cent since Feb. 1 and 3 per cent prior to that date, tended to act as a counterbalance.

Predictions were current that the French import quota on wheat would be raised successfully, and would soon reach 30 to 50 per cent. On the price rallies which followed these predictions, wheat recovered from early downturns and in most cases went above yesterday's finish. Some buying was done on statements from private crop experts that despite official reports the condition of domestic winter wheat remained abnormal, and suggested danger ahead. Corn and oats largely duplicated the action of wheat.

Notwithstanding upturns in hog values, provisions went lower as a result of scattered selling and of slow demand.

GALION CIVIL WAR VETERAN CLAIMED

W. H. Raymond, Former Postmaster and Merchant, Dies at Age of 88.

Special to The Star

GALION, Feb. 10—William H. Raymond, 88, Civil war veteran, former postmaster and retired business man, died at his home here yesterday at 10:30 p. m.

Mr. Raymond was the last surviving charter member of the Galion Royal Arch Masons. He came here in 1870, serving as superintendent of the old B Line railroad stockyards. He was named postmaster in 1884, serving four term. For many years he was engaged in the grocery and retail coal business, retiring in 1921. He also was a road contractor.

During the Civil war he was a member of the 128th regiment, O. V. I., serving as a guard at the prison camp on Johnson's Island in Sandusky bay.

He was prominent in Masonic work, being a member of the lodge at Crestline, the Royal Arch Masons, Knights Templar and the Shrine. He had reached the 32nd degree rank.

Surviving are three children, Grace at home, Mrs. T. A. Sawyer of Columbus and C. L. Raymond of Van Wert and one brother, J. S. Raymond. He was born near Shelby Oct. 18, 1843.

Funeral arrangements have not been made.

A folding screen has been invented to be attached to a rocking chair to shield its occupant from insects.

OBITUARY

Fred Daum, born in Marysville, Ohio, to George C. and Lucinda Hale Daum, died February 1, 1932, in a Cleveland hospital.

He spent the larger part of his life in Marion, having attended the schools in Marysville and Marion, Ohio.

He worked at the plumbing trade for 18 years and was known as an honest, conscientious workman.

He enlisted in the World war June 24, 1918, and was honorably discharged June 13, 1919. He saw active service in France.

He is survived by his mother and father, four brothers and three sisters, two aunts and a number of nieces and nephews.

After an illness of 14 months, death relieved him of intense suffering.

He will be deeply missed by a large circle of business associates, and by his many relatives, friends and neighbors. *
